After calling the warehouse at 5546 Choctaw home for 17 years, the Greater Baton Rouge Food Bank moved to a new location at the Fraenkel Center in January of 2014 and held a building dedication and ribbon cutting ceremony on Tuesday, January 14th, 2014. The ceremony took place at the new facility, the Fraenkel Center, located at 10600 South Choctaw. Mayor Kip Holden was present in addition to many other dignitaries and major donors who made the move to the new facility possible.

The new facility enables the Food Bank to better serve its 11 parishes by increasing capacity, efficiency and output. More than six times the square footage of the former Food Bank warehouse, the Fraenkel Center facility is the foundation of a transformation for the Food Bank.

The Fraenkel Center is the former site of Fraenkel Furniture, a very successful furniture showroom and warehouse owned by Albert Fraenkel. Opening its doors back in 1973, Fraenkel operated out of the facility for decades.

“Being able to offer up the facility to the Greater Baton Rouge Food Bank presented me with a noble purpose and opportunity to help thousands of people I had never met and will likely never meet, “ said Fraenkel. “From hunger to hope and from furniture to food, I couldn’t think of a better way to put this building to use.”

The Greater Baton Rouge Food Bank is immensely grateful for the generous donations from the Fraenkel family and all of the capital campaign donors who made this move possible.

The new facility will allow us to experience better efficiencies in receiving, processing, packaging and distributing of food. With more dock space, expanded sorting areas, bulk product receiving and packaging, state of the art coolers, and far more additional rack space for storage, your Greater Baton Rouge Food Bank is well prepared to better serve in the fight against hunger. The transformation is well underway and we invite you to come out for a visit. We’d love to see you.
